

Whiskey and Beer Habit

PERMANENTLY CURED BY

"ORRINE,"

A SAFE, SURE AND HARMLESS SPECIFIC

Physicians pronounce drunkenness a disease of the nervous system, creating a food craving for a stimulant. Continued indulgence in whiskey, beer or wine eats away the stomach lining and stupefies the digestive organs, thus destroying the digestion and ruining the health. No "will power" can beat the inflamed stomach membranes.

"ORRINE" permanently removes the craving for liquor by acting directly on the affected nerves, restoring the stomach and digestive organs to normal condition, improving the appetite and restoring the health. No sanitarium treatment necessary. "ORRINE" can be taken at your own home without publicity. Can be taken secretly if desired.

CURE GUARANTEED OR MONEY REFUNDED.

Dr. W. L. D. Helms, New York City, writes: "ORRINE" cured my husband, who was a sordid drunkard for many years. He has no desire for stimulants, his health is good and he is fully restored to sobriety. He used only five boxes of "ORRINE."

Dr. W. L. D. Helms, Mont., writes: "I have waited one year before writing of the permanent cure of my son. He has been cured of his habit, and is now a healthy man. He is now fully restored to health and has no desire for drink."

Dr. A. E. L. Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I was born with a love of whiskey and drank it for thirty-two years. It finally brought me to the gutter, homeless and friendless. I was powerless to resist the craving, and would steal and lie to get whiskey. Four boxes of "ORRINE" cured me of all desire, and I now have the smell of liquor."

Price, $1 per box. Mailed in plain, sealed wrapper by Orrine Company, 317 14th St., Washington, D. C. Interesting booklet, "Treatise on Drunkenness (sealed), free on request."

"GEE WHIZ!"

Exclaimed the reporter, looking over his report of the wedding in the paper. "I'll bet that bridegroom will be sore."

"What's the matter?" asked the editor.

"He owns an old family homestead out in the suburbs somewhere, I believe, and he told me to say 'the couple will reside at the old manse.' The paper's got it 'old man's.' LONG DISTANCE POWER FOR WICHITA

Gas to Furnish Energy for Local Use.

PROPOSITION LOOKS GOOD

Will Not Cost Much and Is Practical.

Apologies of the comment and talk that has been rife for some time in regard to utilizing the extensive gas supply from the oil and gas fields for local motive powers, Mr. H. G. Landis has compiled a list of statistics and data showing the cost of transmitted motive power plants at other places by various means, and incidentally suggests a method by which the almost inexhaustible supply of gas in the southeastern portion of the state can be made to furnish power for Wichita at less cost than any similar plant in existence today.

In most plans for utilizing the gas from the fields for motive power the fundamental principle has been to pipe the gas into the city and convey the gas in its natural state to the city where it has to be introduced directly to each individual boiler to produce the power.

While this plan appears at first sight to be entirely feasible still there are a few points that are not in its favor. The first is the excessive cost of laying the pipes or mains the distance of fifty or more miles. Then when laid, the pipes are subject to the action of gas and moisture and will eventually rust and corrode, finally wearing in places completely out and causing trouble continually. In addition to this the cost of gas is not sufficient power in itself to travel the distance without help in the form of sub-stations along the route to force the gas on through the pipes.

Taken altogether, while the results might be such as to insure the expense of piping gas from the fields to Wichita, and then distributing it to the different plants that would use it, still any plan that will reduce the cost of creating the power will be of benefit to the future interests of the city.

Mr. Landis has conceived the idea of piping the gas to Wichita in its natural state, but of using it at its source and transmitting the energy it would create to a distant point by the aid of electricity, using for that purpose lines of wire strung on poles, the principle being the same as is now in use by telephone and telegraph companies, or to be more lucid, the same principle as the trolley wire.

By installing a modern electric transmission plant driven by gas engines directly on the field, that would be capable of producing a current of electricity at 50,000 or 75,000 volts and conveying that electrical energy over steel cables, the wire which would be about the size of a lead pencil, and capable of carrying 10,000 horse power, to the point where the power would be used, the heavy expense would be eliminated and all other objectionable features overcome while the energy thus created and forced by the ideal current the required distance without loss would arrive at its destination ready for transforming to the motors wherever required.

By this means sufficient power could be transported to Wichita to operate not only the street railway, electric light plant, laundry, the large packing house plants and all other manufacturing establishments in the city, but there would be enough energy left to just double the entire dose and furnish the same amount to other concerns that might locate in the future.

While this statement may seem rather broad, still the exact figures would show it not to be exaggerated in any particular. A conservative estimate would state that 5,000 horse power would supply the different establishments named and the estimate as given by Mr. Landis is based on an actual transmission of 10,000 horse power.

According to figures compiled by that gentleman and given to an Eagle representative yesterday, the approximate cost of installing and operating such a plant would be as follows:

Plant at the field $75,000.00

Transmission line per mile 1,200.00

Local transforming plant 12,000.00

Cost per horse power per year 18.00

In Wichita, 24 hours each day 18.00

This is about one-fifth what it costs to

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking, or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectively cleans and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless anti-septic in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in the stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some cases a patient may require a box or two, they are more and better charcoal in Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

CHARGE OF CONTEMPT WILL BE CONTESTED

Attorneys for Mrs. Stevens Question Decision

MADE BY PROBATE JUDGE

Defense Declares Action as Being Irregular.

Mrs. S. M. Stevens, with her attorney, John W. Adams, will appear in the probate court tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock to answer and contest the charge of contempt of court.

According to an order issued by Judge Enoch Friday morning, Sheriff Schad was required and commanded to summon Mrs. Stevens into court, as she had failed to comply with the decision of the court, in that she refused to relinquish her diamond rings and give them to Sheriff Henry Schad when he, as receiver, appointed by Judge Enoch, demanded them. She refused to give up the rings as she contends that they are exempt and cannot be attached.

The Rochester-based Rosemary Millinery company held two promissory notes against Mrs. S. M. Stevens, and when they brought suit in the city court, were awarded $37.45 judgment. It is for this they are seeking to levy on the rings as the property of Mrs. Stevens.

Judge Enoch denied last week that the rings were exempt as wearing apparel and an order was made for her to turn them over to the sheriff, which she refused to do.

Attorney John Adams said last evening: "Mrs. Stevens will be present in the probate court Monday morning for the purpose of contesting the charge of contempt and also the right of the court to issue an attachment on the rings, as she will contend they are exempt. Mrs. Stevens declines to turn over the rings because she contends that there is no process of law that can compel her to relinquish the rings."

CABBAGE CROP SHORT.

Local Dealers Handle That Imported From Sweden.

It would, no doubt, be safe to state that very few of the people in the city, who have had cabbage for their dinners during the past week, knew that they were eating a vegetable imported from Sweden. Such, however, is the case, according to a statement made by Senator Tapp yesterday afternoon.

A customer entered the store and asked Mr. Tapp if he had any cabbage. He replied that he had some imported cabbage that was very good, whereupon the customer gave him the laugh, thinking that the remark was only a little "josh" of Mr. Tapp's.

The Senator hastened to assure his customer that what he said was in earnest and strictly true.

"There seems to have been a shortage in the cabbage crop this year," explained Mr. Tapp, "so else there has been a greater amount consumed. The last shipment of cabbage we received was imported and was grown in Denmark."

"I suppose," he continued, "that if that was stated as a fact there would be a great many people who would hoot at the fact that Kansas could not furnish enough cabbage to supply her own demand. It is no doubt true that Kansas could furnish a sufficient amount, but it seems also to be true that she did not do so this year."

"When your wash day dinner is served and you are given a generous supply of cabbage, think it over."

FIRST MILLINERY OPENINGS.

Shields Millinery Co. and Warren's Saturday.

The first millinery openings of the spring season occurred Saturday afternoon. The Shields Millinery Co., gave their opening all day Saturday and their store was crowded with stylishly dressed ladies all day, and every woman that visited their opening was delighted with the beautiful creations and lovely styles and color combinations displayed at Shields' store. The hats are beautiful and styles rich and becoming, medium in shape, neither extra large nor too small for pleasing effect. During the afternoon and evening the Shields' Millinery store was crowded and while everybody was looking, many were buying, making their opening a decided success in every respect.

Warren's & Tapp gave their opening in the afternoon and was a success in point of size of crowd and business done.

Gave Birthday Party.

Mrs. W. R. Watson gave a birthday party last night at her home, 176 North Market, which was attended by a few of her friends and was one of social success of the season. A short but interesting program was given consisting of vocal and instrumental music, toasts and recitations.

Mrs. Watson sang an appropriate selection and also played a fitting number on the piano. She was applauded and received much praise on the perfect style in which she gave these parts of the program. Mr. McConnell sang a baritone solo which called a great many compliments and bouquets. Mr. Letts sang a tenor solo. This also received due attention from the way of applause. The recitation given by Mrs. Hersey was pleasing to the guests and highly enjoyed by all. The toast of the evening was spoken by Dr. Martin and was one well worth the name of a toast. Everyone present agreed that Dr. Martin understands how to give a toast that will interest and entertain.

Following the program a royal supper was served. The tables were decorated with pink and ferns. The rooms were ornamented with palms. Those in attendance describe the rooms and tables as being most beautifully and tastefully arranged.

Each of the guests received as a souvenir a pretty little basket filled with candy and wedding cake. These baskets were exquisitely decorated and are worth keeping in remembrance of the happy event which took place on Saturday night, March 12, 1904, at the Watson home. Those present were: Messrs. and Mesdames W. R. Watson, J. H. McConnell, D. T. Hersey, H. M. Gray, J. Martin, Messrs. Dudley Watson, Wm. Gardner, A. Letts, Paul Martin and Mrs. R. J. Caldwell.

Card of Thanks. To our friends, with words of sympathy and beautiful floral tributes, comforted us in our sorrow over the death of our mother and grandmother, we extend our sincere thanks, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Stewart and children.

A HEALTHY FAMILY

Is the one that can rightfully boast of pure blood. When the rich, red wine of life is coursing through the veins it imparts vigor and strength to the body and healthy action to all parts of the system. A healthy family is a wealthy family; it may be poor in worldly goods, but possessed of a priceless jewel that all the riches of earth cannot buy. A healthy family may not carry in their veins the blood of titled nobles or distinguished ancestors, but vigorous health is always an evidence of the best and purest blood, for the vital fluid contains all material necessary for the making of bone and muscle and the growth and development of the body, and upon its purity rests our chances for good health. When the body is fed upon weak, sickly blood the system languishes, growth is stunted, disease enters without hindrance, and the simplest maladies are apt to develop into serious sickness. In so many ways does the blood become contaminated that the fewest number succeed in keeping this life-giving, health-sustaining fluid in a pure and natural state. We inherit the disease-tainted blood of ancestors, parents transmit to their children such impoverished and weak blood that their lives are a continuous battle against disease, and from earliest infancy are harassed by sores and the most dreadful skin eruptions, and heirs to some old family disease. No one has a right to throw upon the shoulders of posterity a disease that might have been cured, or allow the blood to remain impure without an effort to restore it to health. Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula and many of the severer forms of skin diseases are frequently inherited, and only the most thorough constitutional treatment can remove them. Bad blood is responsible for more ill health than all other causes combined; it absorbs the poisons that gather in the system, and the germs and microbes floating in the air find their way into the circulation, and old sores and ulcers, Eczema, Boils, Malaria and a long train of other diseases follow.

If you do not come of a strong and vigorous family and your blood shows evidence of impurity, nothing will so quickly bring it back to a healthy condition as S. S. S., the most widely known and popular blood remedy on the market. It purifies and builds up weak, sluggish blood and stimulates the circulation, and thus rids the system of impurities. S. S. S. contains tonic as well as blood purifying properties, and builds up the general health, improves the appetite and digestion, and tones up the nerves while ridding the blood of all poisons and humors. Nothing reaches old chronic blood troubles like S. S. S., and being a strictly vegetable remedy can be taken by old and young without any bad after effects or injury to the system. As a blood purifier and tonic at this season S. S. S. has no superior. It puts the blood in good order, removes all poisonous accumulations, invigorates all parts of the system and prevents that debilitated, tired feeling common to this time of year. Keeping the blood healthy is the secret of all healthy families. Write us if in need of medical advice, which our physicians will furnish free of charge. Book on the blood and its diseases mailed free.
